Tree Master has the solution, because here you can simply buy all the drink online and deliver it to your home. Our advantage: we don't take the berries out of the house. But take them where they put. Our Plus Plus: We bring all weekly shopping with and that at their own supermarket prices. The selection of the appointment goes very far in the loading times. Especially because it is known that the Smackers are different and each family member has their favorite trunk. Teens, on the other hand, are usually in energy drinks that are even available in 1 liter bottles. No problem! From one for Apollinaris and Almdudler on Red Bull, Granini and Schweppes to Volvic: überlass. Bringservice! BY PLANEMost international flights arrive at Berlin-Brandenburg International Airport (BER), a 20km (12 miles) from the city center. The new airport (opened 2020) has a rail station under the main terminal, so you can reach the center of Berlin in 20 minutes. For current information on BBI and the two airports currently serving Berlin, go to www.berlin-airport.de.Schönefeld Airport, 18km (11 miles) southeast of the center was once its own airport (SXF) but is now Terminal 5 at Brandenburg (BER). It connects with destinations across Europe, Asia, and Africa, and is served by low-cost airlines like easyJet, Ryanair, and others. Its train station is Berlin Schönefeld Flughafen Airport Express trains (RE9; 29 min.) to Berlin Brandenburg Airport, which includes terminals 1 and 2, run roughly every 15 minutes from Berlin Hauptbahnhof. A regular AS-Bahn service (S45 and S9) departs from the airport and takes about 45 minutes to reach central Berlin. Alternatively take the Airport Express train, departing every half-hour from 4:30am to 11pm and taking about 30 minutes to reach Hauptbahnhof (Berlin's main train station), stopping en route at Ostbahnhof, Alexanderplatz, and Friedrichstraße. Tickets for either service cost 3.20€ and can be purchased from the machines on the platforms. Expect to pay around 40€ for the 45-minute journey into town. Tegel (TXL) airport, 8km (5 miles) northwest of the center, served European and long-haul destinations. It closed in October 2020. A BY TRAIN You can reach Berlin by train from everywhere in Europe. Long-distance high-speed trains arrive at and depart from the Hauptbahnhof (main train station), Europa Platz 1 (tel. 0800-15-07-090 for train schedules; www.hbf-berlin.de), Europe's newest and largest train station. Unless you arrive by a local, regional train, you'll be pulling into this new, user-friendly terminal. On the main floor there's an info store, the name given to Berlin's tourist information centers. Whether you're staying in western or eastern Berlin, getting to your hotel from the Hauptbahnhof couldn't be easier. The entrance to the S-Bahn (elevated train) is on the second floor of the station; the entrance to the U-Bahn (subway or underground train) is on the first floor, and there are buses right outside. BY CAR Four Autobahn (freeway) routes enter Berlin from western Germany; three enter from the east. The drive from Frankfurt or Munich takes about 8 hours, depending on traffic. After you're in Berlin, however, a car is a nuisance. Unless you know this huge city well, getting around by public transportation is far easier than by car Note: This information was accurate when it was published, but can change without notice. Please be sure to confirm all rates and details directly with the companies in question before planning your trip.
